

Collared Lizards

With a little collar, he looks very formal,
as if he was wearing a suit.
He dresses very colorful for his lady love,
whose dress is rather dull.
Together they will run, just on two feet,
unlike other lizards.
One day I was there fooling around,
and I thought I might say,
"It may be hard to lose your tail,
but if you do, it will not come back."
I think they listened because off they went to their home beyond the rocks,
where they knew they were safe.
