

The Cottontail

The Cottontail jumps toward the nearest Palo Verde and settles under a thorny bush.
He was as soft as a fluffy jacket.
The thorns poked his fur like a needle sewing through cloth.
He settles himself deeper into the ground.
He takes one look around until he falls into deep sleep.

By:

Camila Guerra

Grade 2