

Desert's Mighty Knights

*Through the dunes
And into the ground
You might stumble upon a mound
“What is it ?” You might ask
Well it is little knights,
With a mighty task
By dawns light they search for food
Doing this while the heat is crude
Their travels include many dangers
Like a walking dragon with claws
And a tail of poison
Or the spiked haired beast
With the knights they feast
Then they travel back
To share their findings with their “pack”
If you see one,
No need to put up a fighting stance
Why, these knights are little ants*